Opinion: Will this

and amusement area.
With a whiff of high-pressure sales tactics, the owners said that without the park, the shopping mall could not succeed, leaving the project where it is at the moment — unfinished, empty and good only for the amusement of those thesaurus users in constant search of another word for ugly.

Public financing
Understanding that public financing would set off howls of protest that it would stick Bergen Countytaxpayers with a bill for hundreds of millions of dollars, the owners took great pains to emphasize that while a government entity would issue the bonds, all risk would be assumed by those who purchase them since they would be redeemed by the revenues from the mall's operations.
