

Opinion: A matter of trust and compromise

NOVEMBER 30, 2014 LAST UPDATED: SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 2014, 1:21 AM

BY CARL GOLDEN

THE RECORD

Governor Christie is in a tight spot. No frantic, last-minute dancing at the fiscal margins will produce the revenue necessary to replenish the fund, an amount —depending on whose estimate is accepted —that ranges from a half billion dollars to as much as $2 billion.

Carl Golden is a senior contributing analyst with the William J. Hughes Center for Public Policy at the Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

AS NEGOTIATIONS proceed privately to craft a legislative package to rescue the Transportation Trust Fund, it will be crucial for those involved to understand that whatever they recommend will be seen in the context of the anti-tax environment created and sustained by Governor Christie for the last five years and its impact on his possible presidential candidacy.

Christie cracked the door open to ce $\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside} do\text{Sti6}\fg la\ftg\fartarrow\fside-.0014cb-on \frac{\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside} do\text{Sti6}\ftg la\ftg\ff COon \frac{\fiside-.0014cb-on x\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside} do\text{Sti6}\ftg la\ftg\ff TcOon \frac{\fiside-.0014cb-on x\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside} do\text{Sti6}\ftg\frac{\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside} do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside} do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside-.0014cb-on hisyTw\fcb--S\1.behhe do\text{Bti6--1.\fiside-.0014cb-on h uld have on his prospects should he decide ding opposition to new or increased taxes

te and budget messages to the Legislature. rcharge on wealthy New Jerseyans and he's Christie does not want to be the governor who presided over the death of the Fund, nor does he have any desire —national ambitions $not with standing \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurances that the money will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase into law without iron-clad assurance in the law will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase in the law will be \\ --to be the chief executive who signs a tax increase in the law will be \\ --to be the chief executive who increase in the law will be \\ --to be the chief executive who increase in the law will be \\ --to be the chief executive who increase in the law will be \\ --to be the chief executive who increase in the law will be \\ --to be \\ --to$ irrevocably pledged to creating and maintaining a modern transportation network that he can point to as a signature administration accomplishment.

 $He \ may \ be \ restricted \ by \ the \ anti-tax \ environment \ he's \ nurtured, \ but \ he \ cannot \ afford \ to \ be \ imprisoned \ by \ it.$

It is crucial for the Democratic legislative leadership to understand Christie's position and avoid sending him a take-it-or-leave-it tax increase proposal. They should know by now that the governor's bite is as bad as his bark. Forcing him to veto it would be a serious mistake $and\ give\ Christie\ the\ opportunity\ to\ blame\ Democrats\ for\ sacrificing\ the\ Trust\ Fund\ for\ crass\ political\ advantage.$

© 2014 North Jersey Media Group