

With the average property tax bill in New Jersey at a record $8,549 per year and in some communities in excess of $10,000, Guadagno's pitch may have some resonance.

Committing the state to $1.5 billion in increased spending, however, particularly at a time when the state budget is under enormous stress and pressure, has produced skepticism and warnings

les